

GALERIE RAMAKERS

Turbulent Vessel "The Three Graces"

porselein, glazuur (Ying Ch'ing glazuur China)

The 'Turbulent Vessels' are sculpted organic vessels with a dynamic inner choreography. They are playful to impetuous, from animated to unrestrained, from swirling to turbulent. A soft curve becomes a swelling, a ballooning becomes a lip, a slight dent becomes a body cavity. The smoothness of the porcelain clay increases the sensual aspect of the work.

The series 'the Three Graces' refer to the Chinese Ying Ch'ing ware.

The 'Turbulent Vessels' are sculpted organic vessels with a dynamic inner choreography. They are playful to impetuous, from animated to unrestrained, from swirling to turbulent. A soft curve becomes a swelling, a ballooning becomes a lip, a slight dent becomes a body cavity. The smoothness of the porcelain clay increases the sensual aspect of the work.

The series 'the Three Graces' refer to the Chinese Ying Ch'ing ware.