Michel Haddi is an internationally acclaimed photographer and director known for his powerful visual storytelling and distinctive style. For over three decades, he has captured the essence of fashion, film, and celebrity through striking, intimate portraiture.

Working across major fashion capitals including London, Paris, Milan, New York, and Los Angeles, Haddi has photographed some of the most iconic figures of our time. His work reveals a rare ability to see beyond the surface, offering a raw, cinematic glimpse into the personalities behind the fame.

Now based in London, Haddi also runs MHS Publishing, producing limited-edition books that showcase his vast archive. The Hungry Eye Gallery in Amsterdam marks a new chapter in his career: a space dedicated to celebrating his bold and timeless vision.
